ELIZABETH BERKLEY

Host, "Step It Up & Dance"

A versatile actress and accomplished dancer, Elizabeth Berkley has starred on film, television and stage in a variety of comedic and dramatic roles. Film roles include the critically acclaimed "Roger Dodger," Woody Allen's "Curse of the Jade Scorpion," Oliver Stone's "Any Given Sunday," "The First Wives Club," and "Showgirls," among others.

Berkley first rose to prominence as Jesse Spano on the hit NBC series "Saved by the Bell." Since then she has had numerous recurring roles including "NYPD Blue," "Law & Order," "Without A Trace" and "CSI." She recently signed on as a new character on "CSI: Miami," where she will portray the ex-wife of David Caruso's character Horatio Caine.

On stage, Berkley garnered rave reviews for her performance in the Broadway production of "Sly Fox" starring Richard Dreyfuss and in "Hurly Burly" opposite Ethan Hawke. She also starred opposite Eddie Izzard in Sir Peter Hall's West End production of "Lenny," which was choreographed by Vincent Paterson.

Her extensive dance training began at age four with tap, jazz and ballet. Since that time she has continued to study with top choreographers and teachers in New York and LA and has performed with principals from the prestigious American Ballet Theatre and The New York City Ballet. Her passions also extend to Ask Elizabeth, the series of self-esteem workshops that she created and facilitates for girls around the country. (www.ask-elizabeth.com)
