Yes...we are in the middle of the NBC Celebrity Golf Championships and I have been chosen as the poster child to take care of all of the Penthouse guests...Michael Jordan, Ben Roethlisberger (we all think he looks like you), Donald Trump, Tony Romo and Jessica Simpson, and a bunch of others. They are all watching Jay Leno right now so I have not a darn thing to do...yes 3am....I absolutely LOOOOOOOOOVE my new job and my schedule.

Hey you! Sorry I was down in high limit and couldnt talk. I am hiding right now. So your mummy lectured the heck out of me today. Are you ready for this:

"Um honey we just heard from Ben do you have a second? Honey, you need to let him work and do his job. And honey what are you doing in these chat rooms? You cant have him in some chat room honey because he mentioned something in his email and I can detect that he is concerned. That T-a-l-i-b-a-n over there might find you in a chat room chatting and do something really terrible because he mentioned something about projectile flying toward him. You need to leave him alone and let him work! Oh honey he is so sweet! He is just a doll."

So honey I have no idea what she wrote back to you. I shutter to think how mushy it is. I know that she was pretty worked up about writing back to you on time. Dad lost one of his dearest friends en route to driving to the hospital. He had a heart attack at the wheel and Dads engine company responded to the call. He was part of that engine company (got on with the fire department w/ Dad) He was only 51. Your mummy loves you!

I got my haircut and I look like a Barbie doll- literally. I have these really thick bangs but my hair is still really long. You'll like it.

This golf tournament has been really fun- I am beat though because we are out until four in the morning by the time we are done. I am really excited because we are all going to see Journey tonight and that will be sooooo much fun. Speaking of which I need to head over to a dinner with your lookalike and a few others before heading out. I will be back and working until at least 3am again.

I am so excited for you to build your house. I have been thinking of it alot since you showed me the picture. I love to daydream about it that is for sure.

I miss you,

widdle pea

Your mummy called about you a whole bunch and then the other phone call was Dad's buddies at the firehouse were absolutely freaking out that "Big Al's daughter" was hanging out with Ben Roethlisberger all week. I guess they are big Steelers fans. The story is actually really funny. Which prompted my mum to google the heck out of him and eventually led to a phonecall where she said, "Honey, our Ben is much better looking than him."

The story that my mum wants to tell you is really funny
